Thirteen car-loads, containing three hundred and eight thousand (308,000) pounds, or one hundred and fifty-four tons, of "GOOD LUCK" BAKING POWDER have just been sold and shipped to the above four jobbers. These are by far the largest individual sales of Baking Powder on record in this country, and each is an argument in favor of the merit of "Good Luck" that carries the weight of an avalanche. When a person pauses to think of one wholesale grocer's buying, in one shipment, at the regular price and on usual terms, 98,000 pounds, or 49 tons, of one brand of Baking Powder, he gets some conception of the tremendous demand for "Good Luck" from the housekeepers throughout the country.

These jobbers are four of the most conservative buyers in the South. They would not make such enormous purchases of "Good Luck" unless it had proven itself the choice of the people, and unless it had demonstrated its ability to serve the housekeeper in her oven more satisfactorily than other brands.

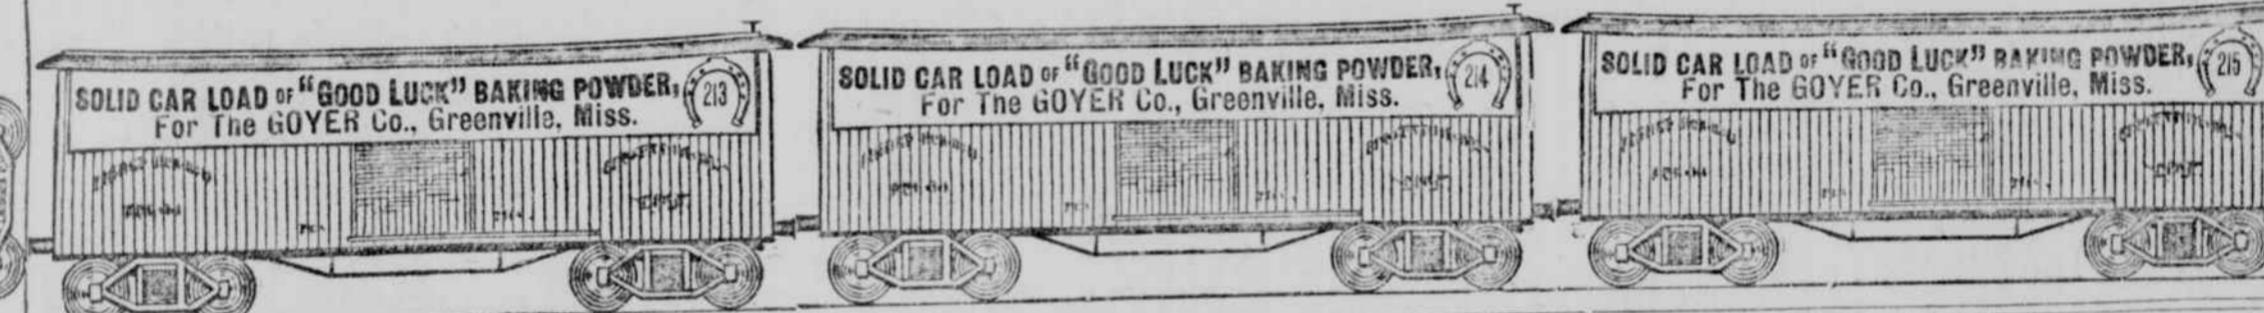

Its Perfect Purity and Great Leavening Power

HAVE PLACED IT FIRST IN THE ESTIMATION OF INTELLIGENT HOUSEKEEPERS EVERYWHERE.

Sold by all progressive grocers. Ask your grocer for "Good Luck" and demand what you ask for. Accept no substitute or imitation. Look for the name of The Southern Manufacturing Company on the label.
